GIRL IS KILLED INSTANTLY IN LAKE VILLA CRASH

Skull Is Crushed When Car Turns Turtle on State Highway No. 21

Crushed beneath a car which had tipped over on highway No. 21, near Lake Villa, shortly after 9 o'clock Monday morning, Miss Becky Williams, 18, of 2900 Jackson boulevard, Chicago, was killed instantly. Her companion, Harry Smith, 17, of 6136 N. Mansfield avenue, Chicago, who was driving the car, received serious bruises and shock, which are being treated at the summer home of his father at Cedar lake.

The young couple were headed for Antioch in a Ford roadster and stopped at the Maier garage for gas and oil. The attendant, William Maier, stated that Smith drove away at a high rate of speed and had gone but a short way, when the car seemed to skid, and then turned over.

Was Adjusting Mirror.

At the inquest held Monday afternoon, it was found that Smith had reached up to adjust the rear-view mirror, and the car swerved over to the left. Smith turned the wheel sharply to the right, cut short, and the car went over, pinning the girl underneath and crushing her skull. Her death was said by the coroner's jury to be "from injuries received when an automobile in which she was riding turned turtle."

Young Smith and Miss Williams were summer neighbors at Cedar lake. Smith is the son of a Chicago insurance man.

The body was taken immediately to Chicago. Funeral services will be held in Chicago, with interment in Mt. Carmel cemetery tomorrow.

STATE AUDITOR IS GRILLED IN STATE BANK QUIZ

Probe Relations of State Bank and Its Chicago Clearing House

SMITH FIRM IN STAND

Investigations into the relationship of the now defunct State Bank of Waukegan and its Chicago correspondent, the National Bank of the Republic, an examination of the records showing its condition prior to its closing, and a probe into action taken by State Auditor Oscar Nelson when he declared that a re-organization was necessary last November, were vigorously continued today by members of the special grand jury.

Hearings of the reports of Nelson and others said to be involved in the financial plight of the bank were heard yesterday and Tuesday by Judge Ralph Dady.

Faces Indictment.

Nelson is facing an indictment, State's Attorney A. V. Smith charged, because he failed to call an assessment on stockholders last November and, instead, sat in on a conference in which an agreement was made for Chicago interests to buy their stock in a trust fund with the proceeds of the sale to the bank. Only thirty-five shares were sold. Nelson owns sixty-six shares in the National Bank of the Republic, the Chicago clearing house for the Waukegan State Bank.

In spite of his declaration a few days ago that he would not sign the waiver of immunity that paved the way for the grand jury to vote an indictment against him if there is a prima facie evidence, Nelson signed yesterday without protest, declaring that he had nothing to conceal from the jury.

Nelson spoke freely before the special grand jury, and discussed fully the reorganization of the State Bank last November, in which Norman O. Oeyer became president, and Carl Stenger, chairman of the board.

Although Nelson was not represented by counsel, he talked to both Attorneys Claire O. Edwards and S. H. Block, counsel for Chicagoans once connected with the National Bank of the Republic and later with Central Trust after the merger. The law firm claimed that the investigation interested them only for the protection of the Chicago bank.

FOREIGN BOY MAKES GOOD IN AMERICA

Little did the young Tony Cermak dream that he would ever become mayor of the second largest city in the United States when he left his native country, now called Czechoslovakia, and came with his parents to Balaustine, Ill. His father was a poor miner when he brought his 6-year-old son to America.

Tony was born in Prague. Over 150 people in that city bear the family name of Cermak, and since the recent Chicago mayoralty election, they are extremely proud of it. Torchlight parades were held by enthusiastic townspersons in his old home town, and in Kladno, Bohemia, where Mr. Cermak's family formerly lived, to celebrate Tony's victory in April.

His countrymen have unlimited faith in Tony's ability to abolish crime and make an end of the Al Capone regime.

While many foreign-born come to America, become educated, and occupy positions of trust in their communities, few attain the honor that has come to Anton J. Cermak.

McMILLIN TO TACKLE CHAMP ON LABOR DAY

Jim McMillin, Grayslake wrestler, is getting all set for another try at defeating the champion, Jim London, in a title bout at the Chicago stadium on Labor Day night. The best man will be determined by best two out of three falls.

This is the first time that McMillin has been successful in inducing London to meet him for three falls, and fans believe that odds are about even. Lake county enthusiasts are hoping that McMillin will stage an upset with his "football tactics."

McMillin is a son-in-law of J. J. Morley, Antioch.

Sabath to Propose Improvement of Fox River at Congress

Bed Dry at McHenry, While Residents Back of Dam Fear a Flood

Aid in improving the condition of the Fox river by Congress will be sought at the next session by Congressman Adolph J. Sabath of Chicago, according to his proposed action at the meeting of the Nunda-Algonquin Fox River Improvement Association at Cary, Sunday.

At present the water level at McHenry is very low, due to the use of flashboards on the dam at McHenry. It is charged. Residents complain of an unhealthy odor from the stagnating water.

It is contended that repair of the dam near Algonquin will raise the water level one foot.

Lakesiders Fear Flood. Inhabitants of the lake shores back of the McHenry dam are fearing a flood, because the flashboards are held in place by the dam is built up to its maximum of four flashboards, and already the water reaches the top of the third, while the lake has risen to within 6 inches of the top of the walls. Should the river rise, lawns of residents would be flooded.

The maintenance of the full set of flashboards is for the Labor Day celebration of boat races, for which lake dwellers are building up a vast supply of water. The Fox River Valley Federation has placed a request with the river inspector at McHenry that enough flashboards be removed to allow water to flow into the stagnant river bed.

River authorities had granted permission for the use of the maximum amount of flashboards with the building of a new dike along the end of the dam.

Some of the trouble is caused from the fact that the dam basins at Geneva and Balaustine are so small that power users are having difficulty in using the water without depleting the supply back of the dams. An attempt to maintain the water level near the top of the dam instead of allowing it to rise and fall at intervals, is being made by power users, whereby each will use the water at stipulated times.

A sack race will be held at 3:15, followed by a baseball game between the Antioch Moose and Merchants at 3:30.

ANTIOCH LAYS CLAIM TO CERMACK

Although Cermack's rise to fame has been through his interest in Chicago and Cook county, Antioch and the lake region have claimed him partially for their own, since he founded the Zobak and Cermack subdivision thirty years ago, and has made his summer residence at Lake Catherine for twenty years.

Cermack has risen from a poor worker in the mines to Chicago's second World's Fair mayor. When he was a young man, he became engaged in the teaming and contracting business in Chicago, but before he was 30, he had been elected to the state legislature as a Democratic representative of the ninth district. He served for two terms and has since served as alderman of the old twelfth ward, municipal court bailiff, president of the Cook county board of commissioners, and mayor of Chicago.

Trucks Collide Near Bristol; Seven Injured

Two Calves Are Killed in Crash; Passengers Unconscious.

As two trucks crashed with terrific force at an intersection southeast of Bristol, Wis., last Friday afternoon, seven persons were hurled from the cars, and seriously injured, and two calves were killed.

The injured, many of them unconscious, were rushed to Kenosha and St. Catharine's hospitals, in Kenosha, where they were treated. All are expected to recover. They are: Simon Schaffer, 16, Bristol, seven fractured ribs and internal injuries; Mrs. Harry Salmon, Kimberly, Minn., dislocated hip, lacerations about the head; Frank Webb, Kenosha, fractured leg; Mrs. Frank Webb, severe bruises; Geraldine Webb, 13, severe bruises; Christ Schaffer, Bristol, injuries to wrist, arm and head; Miss Catherine Salmon, Cylon, Wis., severe bruises.

Five of the injured persons were riding in the other truck, driven by Miss Salmon. They were returning to Kenosha after spending a few hours in Antioch. Two of those injured were riding in the cab of the truck. The others were seated on cushions in the truck body.

Collide at Intersection.

Simon Schaffer was driving east on Pawell road. As he crossed the intersection, his truck was struck by the machine driven by Miss Salmon, which was traveling on the Wesley Chapel road, according to the report given deputy sheriff.

LOCAL GOVERNMENTS EAT TAXES

Every citizen should pay closer attention to local government units.

Governor Meier of Oregon recently said that in his state out of $50,000,000 raised for taxes, less than $7,000,000 goes for state purposes while the remaining $43,000,000 represents local levies.

We will not have lower taxes until we demand efficiency and economy from every local official, as well as from United States Senators and high state officials.

AN OBJECT LESSON FOR ALL

Here is something for the tax assessors to think about:

According to the Chicago Tribune, only a fourth of the owners of personal property in Cook county, Illinois, are assessed for taxes and fewer than a fifth of those assessed pay anything. Those who pay are only 4.99 percent of the owners.

In Chicago only one out of fifty owners of personal property pay. In the country town, one pays out of each five owners. Thus, of the owners of personal property, ten times as many pay in the country towns as within Chicago.

These are some of the deductions obtained from a study made of the 1929 taxes by County Treasurer Joseph B. McDonough.

Rural members of the Illinois revenue committee have urged a vigorous enforcement of the personal property laws, while some Chicago members have urged that a strict enforcement would drive personal property out of Chicago.

If ten times as many pay personal property taxes in country towns as in Chicago, a good way for the state to collect on Chicago personal property now escaping, would be to drive it out of the city into the country, where it could be checked up.

LAKE VILLA IS SCENE OF FATAL AUTO ACCIDENT

Harold Dixon Is Absented from Store With an Infected Leg

Miss Irene Williams, 18 years old, was instantly killed Monday morning when the car driven by Harry Smith, a neighbor of the Williams family in the Cedar lake summer colony, overturned on route No. 21, just north of the Mater garage. They had stopped at the Mater garage for gas and oil, and drove away at a good rate of speed. The car seemed to skid and turned over. No other car was in sight. The girl's head was crushed and she was killed instantly. The boy was only slightly hurt and was so completely overcome that he hardly knew how the accident happened. The boy was removed to the Strang undertaking parlors at Antioch. Smith is the son of an insurance man living at Cedar lake during the summer.

Harold Dixon has been suffering with an infection in his leg and foot and has not been able to be about the store as usual during the past two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Hendrickson and family, of LaGrange, spent last week with the Davis family.

The Royal Neighbors hold a public card party at the Hucker building on Cedar Avenue Tuesday afternoon.

Among those who attended the picnic at the Model Farm Mundelein, last Sunday were Mr and Mrs. G. P. Manzer, Mr. and Mrs. Al Boehm, and Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McCann and family.

Mrs. J. Frank Pickering, of Chicago,

This tax situation undoubtedly applies in other states. Before new methods of taxation and increased tax burdens are heaped upon already over-burdened taxpayers and industries, a determined effort should be made to round up the property now failing to pay taxes, but which is liable to payment under our existing laws.

A MORAL FOR "REFORMERS"

Those who advocate anti-revolver and pistol laws because of the prevalence of crime are on shaky ground. The sawed-off shotgun and sub-machine gun are the modern weapons whose operation involves little skill and whose destructive powers are a thousand times that of any small arm.

It is not improbable that crime flourishes today partly because so few homes and offices are protected by arms. A good many cities and states have rigid anti-gun ordinances, and in others the requirements for owning a weapon are so involved that the average citizen does not go through the necessary red tape. This is not an argument in favor of all of us going about the streets armed—but it certainly is evidence of a condition which gives potential law-breakers an advantage by making it difficult for the law-abiding citizen to protect his home or place of business.

We have done many absurd things in the name of crime prevention. We have passed liberty-restricting laws, thus giving us more laws to break. We have penalized the good citizen in the hope that this ordinance or that would miraculously cut down crime. As a result, the United States is the greatest law-breaking civilized country on earth. There is a sound moral here, if the "reformers" care to look for it.

MORE FOR THE ROAD DOLLAR

It is estimated by the federal bureau of roads that expenditures for highways will reach the record total of $2,500,000,000 in 1931. We are now getting more for our road dollar than ever before, in rural localities.

There is an increased tendency toward constructing moderate cost, secondary farm or feeder roads of mud and dust proof surfaces. These have been made possible by the modern application of asphaltic road oils. Only in this way can farming regions be taken out of the mud and given good, safe roads on a large scale.

HICKORY FAMILY HOLDS REUNION

Dr. James C. Gardiner, of Evanston Dies; Wife Was of Hickory

The Edwards family held their annual reunion at the farm last Sunday. A picnic dinner on the lawn was enjoyed by all. About sixty were present this year. The oldest, George Edwards, will be 88 in December, and his granddaughter, Ella Mae Edwards, aged 7 months, was the youngest. Relatives came from Chicago, Waukegan, and neighboring towns.

Former residents of Hickory will be grieved to learn of the death of Dr. James C. Gardiner, of Evanston, which occurred last Saturday.

Mrs. Gardiner was formerly Miss Lotta Sanborn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sanborn, who kept the postoffice at the Corners for many years. She is a sister of Mrs. George Edwards.

Dr. Gardiner was a practicing dentist in Chicago and Evanston for approximately forty years. Besides his wife, he leaves one daughter, Mahol, who is librarian at the Garret Bibbical Institute of Evanston.

He was taken ill with a heart attack while at work in his office Monday.

Radio Records Can Be Used On Regular Machines--Gilbert

Louise (Bertha) Gilbert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. James, of Antioch, writes an interesting comment upon an article printed last week as follows:

Made Only for Radio.

Phonograph records made for radio broadcasting—known as electrical transcriptions—cannot be played on home phonographs. Although these appear to be standard they are made for radio purposes only, and they differ from the standard phonograph record.

Is Not True.

Mrs. Gilbert claims that this is not true. Records made for broadcasting differ from those made for sale only in that they are louder and sharper, due to the fact that when they are put on the air, the scratch is so noticeable that an eliminator is used, with the result that the broadcast is very like the real performance.

However, there are records 16 inches in diameter which run the full 15-minute time that are used for many programs, which cannot be played on a regular machine. These have not been perfected as yet, and are not entirely satisfactory for broadcasts.

Miss Gilbert has made about 200 records for broadcasting which have been used from coast to coast. She has had entire direction of orchestra and vocal groups, while Bill Hay was the announcer. Her next two programs will be "Little Buster Poeporn" on the NBC chain opening September 26, and "Minneapolis Honeywell," on September 20.

Moose Defeat Firemen Twice; Lose to Rivals

The strong Antioch Moose team was unable to regain its lead in the softball league this week, after Lake Villa showed them to another defeat to the tune of 11-6 Thursday, when a 7-inning game was played.

Lake Villa has played three loss games than the Moose. Members of the Antioch team are strongly hoping to stage an upset in the future encounters with their rivals.

Fuchs and Reinhach were Lake Villa's heavy hitters while Helling was the only one who hit more than a single for the Moose. Teide held the local team to seven hits, five of which materialized into runs, and although Shunnessen allowed but eleven hits, no walked several men, which increased the score.

After an easy 8-1 victory over the Firemen Sunday, the Moose were surprised in the second game at the remarkable comeback staged by their opponents, who gave them a real bat, and were finally defeated by the runs, 14-12.

The second game was a real game in every respect—batters for both teams were sending the ball sizzling out into the field, and making most of the hits count. Hallwas and Shunnessen were the chief Moose sockers, and Hughes, Bown and Drom, Firemen, each took three hits from Shunnessen, Moose pitcher.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Christ Jesus" was the subject in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, August 30.

The Golden Text was, "We know that the Son of God is come, and hath given us an understanding that we may know him that is true, and we are in him that is true, even in us See Jesus Christ" (1 John 3:20).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "And the Word was made flesh, and dwelt among us (and we beheld his glory, the glory as of the only begotten of the Father, full of grace and truth; And of his fulness have we all received, and grace for grace" (John 1:14, 16).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Christ is the true idea voicing good, the divine message from God to man speaking to the human consciousness. . . . Jesus was the son of a virgin. He was appointed to speak God's word and to appear to mortals in such a form of humanity as well as perceive" (p. 332).

CHANNEL LAKE COUNTRY CLUB NEWS

Although the card party of last Saturday night was attended by a small group of members, it was a very jolly party, and the honors of the evening were awarded to the highest total for couples. Instead of individuals, Mr. and Mrs. Gnaedinger won the highest total, and Mr. and Mrs. Sandell the second score.

The second and last card tournament of the season was ended this week on Tuesday, and awards went to Mrs. Max Mauermaier, Mrs. Henry Paulson, Mrs. Harry Arms, Mrs. Ernest Brook and Mrs. E. J. Gnaedinger.

The high scores for the day were won by Mrs. Arms, Mrs. Paulson and Mrs. Brook, and the guest prize went to Mrs. Edna Nissen.

This being the final week for regular club activities, many events are scheduled, and the last tournament golf games will be played off. The special event for the ladies on Thursday morning is a "2-ball tournament," which expects to start from the first tee as nearly 10 as possible. Many of the club members are planning to attend the golf events in Antioch, in honor of our mayor, Anton J. Cermak.

Friday is another full day, with the annual business meeting at 11 a.m., which will be followed by a luncheon and benefit card party. A large attendance is hoped for, for the entire day, and guests are most cordially invited for luncheon and cards.

The last dance of the season is scheduled for Saturday night at 9:30 p.m. This affair is always one of our big nights of the year and we trust this year will be no exception.

Many of the cottagers are planning to remain for a few weeks longer, and the Tuesday card parties will continue at the club probably through the month of September.

Think It Over

Taxpayers' Questions

Do not taxpayers wonder why the city dues mess around with regulations about bakeries, laundries, and ice cream joints when they could do a real job by lowering street car fares, and gas and electric rates?

How many charitable taxpayers are willing to trust their donations to the same old hand-picked committee chosen by the civic clique that tries to run everything and everybody?

Why does it cost a taxpayer $2.18 per head to get criminal justice in the county seat?

After the county traffic survey is over, what scheme is next for taxpayers to pay for?

Why do taxpayers wonder so much about unsolved racketeer murders?

If taxpayers of Waukegan receive wage cuts and work short weeks, why not cut salaries and lay off some of our pensioners, stool pigeons and incompetents around the public offices?

When will there be a return to the public treasury of money expended illegally, especially for the court house inspections by a supervisor?

If a public official who charges for hauling his car, donated by the taxpayers, is elected an auditor, will he charge rent for using his pockets as a receptacle for lead pencils?

Is not the militant taxpayers' organization a great thing to keep penny politicians and crooked candidates straight?

If a local newspaper declares that an airport and a lake shore drive are necessary in a progressive program, what about the financial standing of a city and the taxpayers' burdens?

Is any wonder that taxpayers rumors that some of the ballyhoo men in the civic clubs and newspaper racks are tools of special interests when it is proposed to buy land at $3,500 per acre or airports and shore drives? Will their next stunt be to evade just taxes?

What small home owning taxpayer thinks that the interests that are always looking out for the big end, will over-stop racketeering on tax valuations in a friendly press?

When a bank goes into the retail trade and begins with blankets and bathroom scales, should not the taxpayers put their coin in the silk stocking safety deposit?

Why is there a charge for rides on the taxpayers' slide at the beach in Waukegan?

Why should taxpayers pay $50 per month extra to a fireman to fix alarm systems, when he is on the payroll at $175 per month?

Why is coke shipped from Detroit to Waukegan and sold as cheap as locally made coke? Should taxpayers provide aims to buy such coke?

When Chicago is to get lower gas rates from the natural gas supply, what about the reductions the late commission broadcast so much about before election?

Can the school board encourage thrift with the banks closed on hundreds of thousands of tax money, to say nothing about the kiddies' pennies?

How many taxpayers read the signs in the banks, "Go to your banker for advice"?

Why did not the water main exports at $10,000 find the 2-inch water main leaks at Spring street and Madison? Did they think it was all spring?

Why do not professional bondsmen put up collars or produce their men?

Is it economical to reduce a bond from $5,000 to $3,000 if the result is other dirty work at the cross roads?

If there is no local improvement work in the county seat, why the salaries?

Should the taxpayers put up $7,500 per year for a highway expert when so many are homeless and helpless?

All audits and reports to the contrary, what taxpayer really believes Waukegan has 30 cents in real money?

Do taxpayers know the parties interested in the old Y. W. C. A. property in Waukegan?

What taxpayer would not take $50 per year to wind the town clock that does not exist?

Did a former public official have a Flying Cloud furnished him at the taxpayers' expense while he received $6 per month for housing this family car? If so, should such a man be elected a county auditor?

Who are the county officials who are trying to interpret the law so that

LAKE COUNTY TAXPAYERS' NEWS

"And ye shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free"

IF PROMISES WERE KEPT DEPRESSION WOULD BE UNKNOWN

Public Officials Believing Honesty to Be Best Policy Are Rare

If no promises were made which were impossible to fulfill, and if all promises made were fulfilled, depression would cease to be. Many public offices would be abolished, expense at elections would be reduced to a minimum, credit would be firm, there would be no wild-cat schemes, the home and church would be prospered. It—

How many promises are worth the breath used in making them? The highest tribute to any person is that "His word is as good as his bond." Of how many people can you say that today?

Politicians will make promises as fast as a horse will run but break them at automobile speed. Pete and his ten disciples still go up to the Barn, and the taxpayers still are paying the engineer that made the "$10,000 mistake" on Docket 735, N. Jackson street paving.

They all promised a reduction in taxes, but Lake county faces a higher tax than ever.

Bankers accept your hard-earned cash as a deposit. By accepting they promise to be a safe custodian for your coin. Some high pressure official in a Chicago bank sells them a gold brick and away goes their promise and your savings.

A woman promises to love, honor and obey some man, and the next thing the poor simp is paying alimony.

Chambers of commerce, civic clubs and brotherhoods will promise to do things for the good of the city. But who is the city? It is a few racketeers with something to unload on the innocent taxpaying public!

Real estate men, automobile salesmen, furniture dealers, clothiers and pawn peddlers promise anything to make a sale. Many employers will promise the moon in a pinch, but let times get slack and where is the promise?

Utility magnates promise wonders for franchises, but what about their rates?

Thirteen-cent-a-quart dairies promise a reduction in cost to the consumers, but there is no action.

With all these promises, the farmers and the workers still get no relief in either cost or taxes.

There was money in these banks belonging to waterworks No. 2, the city, the county, and the state, and as the situation now stands, neither bank will pay depositors in full. It looks as if the taxpaying public is due to lose money they have already paid in as taxes. Just how much no one knows, but anything lost is too much under present conditions.

Tax money lost, stolen or misappropriated or unpaid, must be made up, so the only answer is more taxes to be paid for blunders.

Who is to blame? Are those having charge of the collection of money? Does some governing body tell them where to put it? Does this body ask some competent official if the bank is safe and sound? Do wildcat banks outbid each other in interest rates in order to get public deposits? Do any politicians get a side split on the interest? Didn't the $100,000 Pearsall-Braher deal show some of the juggling of public funds?

Was there a diabolical scheme afoot to wreck a bank for the benefit of a Chicago bank gang? Is this Chicago bank the same as the one that has the water certificates for the filtration plant? Are certain interests anxious that the interest payments be defaulted on these bonds? Is it a plan to let some private concern get control of the people's water plant?

Why did certain utilities have so much leeway about the installation of equipment? Why was the control taken from the city officers and given to an unheard of water board? Wasn't the president of a busted bank a member of this created water board? Were any of his associates and fellow bank directors also members of this thing?

When will those responsible come clean, confess, and take their medicine, and do their little stretch?

Who will be able to provide a flying field at the taxpayers' expense?

What taxpayer enjoys the editor who takes credit for everything at the county seat but never says a word about lower prices for milk, coal, gas or electric lights?

Go To Banker For Advice? It All Depends

With the closing of two banks in Waukegan, a series of events are set in motion which will cost their effects for years to come on the community.

In any community the bank heads are considered to be men of sound sense and good judgment, hard-headed, honest, and with the good of the community at heart. When school children lose their savings, what reaction do they experience? Will they, at their impressionable age ever have confidence in any business house?

Property owners, skimping, and plowing to save money for taxes and extra special assessments, find their funds locked up and their property in jeopardy of tax sales.

Farmers planning on a new house or barn, a much needed farm machine, or an addition to the dairy herd, has his cash tied up without knowing for how long.

Home owners, saving to pay off the mortgage, learn they will be paid only a small fraction of their hard-earned coin.

Teachers, preachers, doctors, lawyers, merchants, butchers, men, women, old and young, are all sufferers for the acts of a few.

Men who have worked all their lives and are due to retire and enjoy a few years of life, grimly realize that during all these years when they toiled and labored, sweated and slaved, they put their trust unwisely.

Can those responsible for such a financial blight ever have the brass to face honest hard-working people who put their trust in the institutions they represented?

With fair, honest assessors there should be no kick on assessments. With no complaints the board of review would not be needed and another tax-eating body could be abolished.

Of course, no one has as yet answered the question, "Why is the board of review?" and probably no one can.

Property owners, look well to your assessor. If you are stung, put in a good one next election. If you have an honest, conscientious one, stick by him, help him fight his battle for equalization of taxes for the small home owner. Selfish favored interests will oppose him and try to pass the tax back to you. Their stool pigeons, publicity meo, and the press will ballyhoo, but why let their foolish yammering upset a square deal? Stick by the honest assessor. He will save you money.

Taxpayers Seek to Find Basic Cause for Bank Failures

All Blunders of Speculating Officials Must Be Paid in Taxes

When any bank fails, it affects every person in the community, regardless whether they were all depositors or not. One who did not do business with that particular bank is less affected than one who did, but he still gets pinched in the jam.

There was money in these banks belonging to waterworks No. 2, the city, the county, and the state, and as the situation now stands, neither bank will pay depositors in full. It looks as if the taxpaying public is due to lose money they have already paid in as taxes. Just how much no one knows, but anything lost is too much under present conditions.

PEOPLE ENJOINED TO ELECT HONEST TAX ASSESSORS

Some assessors are chosen by political pull, some by friends anxious to give them a job at the taxpayers' expense, and a few are chosen for their ability.

How many of these men know property values? How many know what depreciation means? How many compare values with corresponding property in other localities?

Can't they be approached in their business by interests wanting low taxes? Do they assess the "big fellow" in the same proportion as the little home owner?

Is the small property owner assessed at one-third his boom time value while a favored few get by on an assessment of one-tenth their hard times values?

If so, who carries the tax burden?

Are these assessors all willing to accept the personal property schedule turned in, without a close scrutiny? Farmers and working men who can load all your furniture in a wheelbarrow are assessed for at least $100. Do these concerns that send you a bill each month for service wonder, schedule their coal, oil and stocks on hand?

With fair, honest assessors there should be no kick on assessments. With no complaints the board of review would not be needed and another tax-eating body could be abolished.

How to play Bridge AUCTION or CONTRACT

by Wynne Ferguson

Author of "PRACTICAL AUCTION BRIDGE"

Copyright, 1930, by Hoyle, Jr.

ARTICLE No. 23

We have just had another illustration of the popularity of Auction. A well-known manufacturer offered numerous valuable prizes for the correct play of a problem hand. That it was an advertising scheme made no difference to the Auction and Contract players and the number of solutions received must have

Problem

Spades — 6
Hearts — 8, 5
Diamonds — A, K, 8, 6, 5, 3, 2
Clubs — A, K, 7

Spades — A, Q, J, 9
Hearts — A, K, J, 10, 4, 3
Diamonds — none
Clubs — 9, 4, 2

Problem: If hearts are trumps and A leads the queen of diamonds, how can Y score a grand slam against any defense?

Solution: The problem is a grand slam for Y against any defense.

Trick No. 1 — Y should win the first trick with the king of diamonds on which Z should discard the deuce (or any club) of clubs. No discard other than a club will solve it.

Trick No. 2 — Y should lead the ace of diamonds and B has the choice of three plays: (a) a club discard; (b) a spade discard; (c) trump with the deuce of hearts. These are the only possible plays and it will be shown that Y can make a grand slam against any one of these plays. (a) a club discard by B should be followed by the king of spades discard by Z.

Trick No. 3 — Y should lead the five of hearts and finesse the ten in Z's hand.

Trick No. 4 — Z should lead the four of clubs and win the trick in Y's hand with the king.

Trick No. 5 — Y should lead the eight of hearts and finesse the jack of hearts. A should discard the eight of clubs.

Trick No. 6 to Trick No. 9 inclusive — Z should lead out his top four hearts and A is forced to make four discards. The first three are easy. He can discard two diamonds and one spade; but how about the fourth discard? If he holds a club, both of Y's clubs are good. If he discards the top diamond, Y's diamonds are good. If he discards another spade, all of Z's spades are good. His best defense is to discard the ten of clubs at trick nine, Y's four discards are diamonds.

Trick No. 10 — Z leads the nine of clubs and Y wins the trick with the ace.

Trick No. 11 — Y leads the seven of clubs. B's discard is immaterial. Z discards the jack of spades and A is again forced to discard. If he discards the top diamond, Y's diamond and Z's ace of spades will win the next two tricks. If he discards a spade, Z's two spades are good, so that Y Z must score the grand slam irrespective of A's play.

(b) Trick No. 2 — Suppose B discards the deuce of spades. Z should trump the trick with the trey of hearts.

Chimney Fires

Preventable, Ins. Man Declares

Defective chimneys, together with stoves, furnaces, boilers, and their pipes, are probably the largest preventable causes of fire, says Mr. Johnson, of the Johnson Insurance Agency. It does not pay to take it for granted that, because you have had no trouble with your chimney thus far, it does not need attention. Soot accumulates rapidly in chimneys and in pipes, and every property owner should see that this soot is removed at frequent intervals.

There are, of course, concerns in nearly every community that make a practice of cleaning chimneys, but you can do this work yourself without any special equipment. One way of doing a good job is to tie a window weight or similar object on the end of a rope. A burlap bag may be wrapped around the weight and secured to the rope. Let this down the chimney when there is no fire in stove or furnace. It will remove the accumulation of soot from the sides of the chimney. This should then be cleaned out at the bottom of the chimney which is, or should be, provided with a clean-out door for this purpose.

In the cleaning process, stove pipes should not be neglected. They should be taken down and thoroughly cleaned.

By taking these simple precautions you will avoid many chimney fires, many of which prove serious. If your chimney should catch fire, Mr. Johnson suggests the following action. The first thing to do is to close all drafts, including the check draft, cutting off as much as possible the supply of oxygen that will further feed the fire. Throw plenty of common salt right on the fire in stove or furnace.

If the chimney is so hot that there is danger of igniting adjacent wood-work, or if its condition is bad and sparks are coming through cracks, if sparks and glowing particles from the top of the chimney are blowing against a dry wood shingle roof or if for any other reason you believe that the building is in danger of catching fire, call your fire department at once. It does not pay to take any chances with fire.

The great majority of chimney fires are preventable, says Mr. Johnson, and it is most important that chimneys and pipes should be thoroughly cleaned and inspected at least twice a year.

HintsSUMMER SWALLOWS | By
Jane Rogers

THIS clink of ice in a tall glass filled with a frosty fruit beverage is one of the most inviting of all possible sounds on a hot summer afternoon. There is every reason why we should always be ready to accept the invitation. Refreshing coolness aside, the fruit juices are splendid suppliers of needed vitamins, while the sugar is nature's quickest acting source of the energy needed to carry us through to the end of the day.

Grape Juice Nectar
Mix together one cup orange juice, one cup lemon juice, one quart grape juice, one pint pineapple juice. Add two cups of sugar, and stir thoroughly. Add one bottle maraschino cherries, chopped. A few mint leaves before serving pour in two quarts charged water and add sufficient ice to chill.

Baked Beans For Brawn

THIS summer while Junior is away in the country, you expect him to grow at least an inch, and come back brown and brawny with clear eyes and rosy cheeks. It takes a boy to eat enough food to grow that coveted inch, and it takes a food to make a boy brawny. Then do it with beans. In the United States Army, so here are a couple of bean recipes in which sufficient energy is stored away for some good long hikes, several swims, and a lot of running.

Baked Beans For Men: Sauté one small diced onion and one diced canned pimento in two tablespoons butter till golden brown. Add the contents of a No. 2 can of bean hole beans, one-eighth teaspoon pepper, and three tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese, and heat thoroughly. Serve very hot, garnished with sweet gherkins. Serve four.

Try 'Em With Sauages

Baked Beans With Sauages: Chop one small onion fine, dice one small green pepper, add to the contents of a No. 2 can of tomatoes with one teaspoon sugar and salt and pepper to taste. Cook gently ten minutes, add the contents of a one pound twelve-ounce can of New England oven-baked beans and pour into a buttered, flat, shallow baking dish. Arrange twelve pork sausages over the top and place in a hot oven. When sausages brown on top, turn over, reduce heat, and cook slowly forty-five minutes to an hour. Serves six.

Mrs. Eva Hawkins Shanks, cooking expert of the Public Service Company, shown here in her experimental kitchen, says peaches are finer this year than ever before. Mrs. Shanks has just prepared a new folder of tempting peach recipes, now being distributed free in Public Service Stores.

TIME TO GROOM
YOUR FLOWERS FOR
THE ANTIOPH FAIRAmateur Growers Are Given
Opportunity to Exhibit
"Pet" Plants

Beauty ran riot about many Antioch homes this summer in the flower and rock gardens, particularly during the early season before the heat and dry weather combined to savor them. Then the gay patina and the sturdy portraiture came into their own, in flower boxes, about houses and garages, and on city avenues.

It brings pleasure and satisfaction to cultivate beautiful gardens in spite of the odds—to be able to win first prize on zinnias after those of your neighbors have long since crumpled in the heat.

Nearly everyone has better luck with certain kinds of plants than with others; due to soil and local weather conditions, and the amount of knowledge the grower possesses about the individual peculiarities of the plants. Plan for exhibit.

The Antioch-Lake Villa Country Fair is little more than a month away. Now is the time for plant and flower growers to look over their gardens, select several kinds of flowers which are adapted particularly to the soil, and which, with careful attention, will be in their prime by the fair, and begin trimming, watering, and "grooming."

Professional and amateur growers will show separately, thus giving those who raise flowers as a hobby a fine opportunity to become a prizewinner in their class. The rules for flower exhibits, and the list of flowers which may be shown are to be found in class D of the Horticulture section in the official catalog issued by the association.

All flowers must be grown by the exhibitor. In judging cut flowers, the stems as well as the individual flowers will be considered, and the stems should not be less than 12 inches long, with the exception of small flowers, such as pansies.

Common Flowers Listed.

Among the flowers listed which the amateur gardener may succeed in having in bloom at the time of the fair are zinnias, marigolds, cockscomb, snapdragons, asters, perennial phlox, dahlia, gladioli, overstrands, sweet Williams, cosmos, chrysanthemums. Prize will be given also for the best arranged basket of flowers, and for the best display of cut flowers.

Any variety of potted plants may be exhibited, among them the various kinds of fern, including Boston and asparagus, double and single oleanders, fuchsias and geraniums, climbing and rose geraniums, primroses, palms, cacti, sword plant, English ivy, umbrella plant, hibiscus, wax plant, begonias, lantanas, gloxinias, and begonias.

CHILDREN WILL HAVE LEADERS
GOOD AND BAD"Follow the Leader" Is Not Always to Be Desired
for Schoolmates

By Dorothy Hughes.
Only one child in every group can be a real leader, and whether he or she is truly a leader or just a ringleader is a puzzling problem to many parents whose children's lives are more or less controlled in play hours by these independent spirits.

When children start to school, it is inevitable that they will come under the influence of others whose wills are stronger than theirs—unless they happen to be some of the few leaders. It is impossible for average parents in normal circumstances to be certain which of their child's associates are wielding clean, wholesome influences, and which are inflicting their playmates with coarse vulgarity.

Parents' Opposition Falls.
Opposition of the parents to their child's favorite companion is rarely successful. It breeds either mutual disdained, or a sense of isolated egoism, of superiority to his playmates.

Whenever the younger's companions can be selected without unnecessary discussion, as is possible to those in circumstances which permit choice in school, locally, or residence, it is desirable. However, in ordinary cases, it has been found more successful for the parents themselves, by their companionship and understanding, to counteract whatever undesirable contacts their children may have made.

Children cannot be kept in ignorance forever. If they learn of evil, it does not follow that they must become evil, unless no other atmosphere is provided. Rather, it gives them an opportunity to distinguish right from wrong, and gives them a more reliable sense of values, if directed understandingly from the home.

Refrigerator May Be Kept Stocked
For Pick-Up Meal
A Spiced Pear and a Cheese
Sandwich Tickle the Palate

An article in a recent issue of one of the leading women's current magazines spoke of the refrigerator as allied to the fireplace as a suggestion of the spirit of the home. Anyway, what the refrigerator contains is of major interest to all the members of the family, when they come home at all hours demanding a bite to eat. Certain foods lend themselves most admirably to those any-hour snacks.

If the icebox contains any of the dairy products, milk, butter or cheese, and eggs, the foundation of a pick-up lunch is always on tap. Cheese crackers and sandwiches and a glass of milk make a satisfying lunch. The number of ways in which eggs can be quickly prepared are many: Eggnog is a popular hastily mixed drink to satisfy both hunger and thirst. Omelets or fried eggs are delicious on a cool evening, with bacon or ham.

Something to Nibble on.
Left-over meats are ideal to slice for quick sandwiches. With cold meat, lettuce, mayonnaise, bread and butter one can prepare a plentiful of sandwiches in a jiffy.

Then, of course, fruits, pickles, and relishes are necessary auxiliaries to any meal, prepared or snatched.

It is not well to lunch at any hour of the day, as everyone knows, but there are times when one is restless or bored, that something to nibble on, something refreshing and light, seems the one way to relieve the tediousness.

Keep Spiced Pears on Hand.

How about keeping a jar of spiced pears or apple pickles on hand? Here is a recipe, easy to follow:

Wash two dozen hard green cooking pears, peel them, but leave the stems, and stick four cloves into each. Cover a few of the pears with syrup of the following ingredients which has been boiled 6 minutes: Eight cups sugar, three cups vinegar, one teaspoon mustard, a few pieces of stick cinnamon.

Boil pears in liquid until soft. Remove and cook remainder of pears in the same syrup. Add more sugar dissolved in vinegar to juice in kettle, if amount left is insufficient to cook all the fruit.

CHIC FALL HATS

You've seen them—in the windows, and from now on, they will appear more and more frequently upon the streets. In a sense, they are indescribable—these "chic" fall hats—because they confine to no one style, rolled buck brim, beret, helmet, flowered or feather, but combine certain features of every style with many a twist and curve that gives them individuality.

Mostly, these hats are demure little creations in velvet and felt as described by French creators. They are found in bright autumn colors, white, or black and white.

TOPPY'S TRAVELS

Synopsis: Toppy leaves home to follow his canary. After many adventures, he and his friends, Mr. Frog and Toy, the dewdrop, and an army of Cloud-people, whose land the Pillows have invaded, defeat the Pillows with the aid of the Cushions. Toppy's friend, the falcon, is rescued from the Pillows. Continue the story—

"Somewhere inside the palace, I suppose," Toy answered.

"But aren't there some Cushions still locked up in the Palace, too?" Toppy worried.

"I'm afraid so, but don't worry, Toppy. Remember that we can go for a long time without food, much longer than the Pillows. After the Pillows surrender, we will save our soldiers," said Toy cheerfully.

"But what if the Pillows kill them?"

"The Pillows, remember, do not kill, except when unavoidable, or in self-defense, or in the heat of battle, when they cannot see their victims. You haven't forgotten their superstition?"

"No," answered Toppy. "I suppose that is one reason why they have never captured your people before. They are much stronger, you know."

"That is one reason, and another is that our Queen's secret pool always warned her before."

"Oh, yes, I had almost forgotten," said Toppy. "Won't the Queen be happy after the Pillows surrender? We must send some soldiers to fetch her at once."

DISMISS SUSPECT IN SILVER LAKE MURDER CASE

Fail to Identify Indiana Man as Slayer; Search Continues

Since witnesses were unable to identify John Williams, of Indianapolis, Ind., who was arrested by Kenosha authorities on the suspicion that he was the slayer of Mrs. Ann Patterson, former Antioch woman, officials have failed to unearth any other clues or locate possible suspects, although investigation is being continued.

Williams was released when witnesses declared that he was not the man who murdered his red-haired companion on a wild booze party and left her body near Silver lake two weeks ago.

Continue Search.

The man sought as the slayer is Lester "Blackie" Faust, known in Antioch and Lake Villa where Faust and Mrs. Patterson lived as man and wife for two years, as Lester Williams.

The couple came to Lake Villa in the fall of 1929, shortly after Faust had been released from the Waupun penitentiary, where he had served a 3-year sentence. Faust worked for a contracting company. Early in 1930, he and his companion rented a house on Main street and opened a boarding house. They moved to Antioch last fall.

The murder was witnessed by Mrs. Alma Ledbetter and Neis Nelson, of Chicago, companions on an alleged

Petition Fails; Father Frawley Leaves Antioch

The Rev. F. M. Flaherty Is Successor, Cardinal Announces

Efforts of parishioners of St. Peter's Catholic church to persuade Cardinal Mundelein to retract his decree that Father Daniel Frawley, pastor of the local church for three years, must report to Saint Jerome's parish in Chicago September 1, have failed. Father Frawley left Tuesday.

The Reverend F. M. Flaherty, assistant pastor at Holy Name cathedral, Chicago, for four years, will be his successor, Cardinal Mundelein announced.

Although his new appointment is considered an advancement, Father Frawley was reluctant to leave Antioch, where he has made many loyal friends. He feels particularly attached to this parish, as he was the principal sponsor of the move which resulted in the erection of the new $275,000 church and parish home.

The church building fund now only lacks about $10,000 of the original figure. A last successful church benefit affair was held Sunday with a stenk and barbecue picnic at Ray Pregoner's, Grass lake, in Father Frawley's honor.

Following the death three years ago of Father J. E. Lynch, pastor for twenty years, Father Frawley was sent to Antioch.

ANTIOCH SCHOOLS TO OPEN TUESDAY

One Change Is Made in the Personnel of High School Instructors for Term

60 FRESHMEN REGISTER

Students of the Antioch township high school and grade school will be called from their summer activities to resume study next Tuesday. Principals L. O. Bright and Ralph Clough have announced.

Preliminary registration at the Antioch township high school Tuesday totaled about 175, but as many students were out of town or unable to be at the high school, it is expected that after the commencement of school the enrollment will total over 200. Sixty freshmen were registered this week.

There is only one change in the personnel of high school instructors for this year. Miss Ruth Harrower, of Chicago, a graduate of the University of Illinois, replacing Miss Lillian Schroeder, of Lake Forest. She will teach English and French.

Teachers Return.

All the other teachers have been re-engaged and will take charge of their various classes Tuesday, as follows: Miss Alice Smith, Latin and history; Mrs. Gladys Durden, commercial work; Mrs. Ruby Richer, home economics; E. V. Jeffers, music; C. L. Kull, agricultural subjects; Miss Corneille Roberts, English and history; G. C. Reed, athletics and sciences; Fred Hackett, industrial arts and radio; H. H. Rechlers, mathematics; Hans von Holwede, instrumental instruction; L. O. Bright, principal, chemistry and economics.

One Change at Grade School.

With the exception of Miss Elizabeth Tuten, who is replaced by Miss Mary Gulger, of Lake Villa, as instructor of the second grade, all of the grade school teachers will return. Ralph Clough, who succeeded W. C. Petty as principal when he took over his duties as county superintendent of rural public instruction last March, will head the school again this term and will assist Miss Alice Warner, of Whitewater, Wis., as eighth grade instructor.

Miss Mildred Byrnes, of Fond du Lac, Wis., will teach the seventh grade; Miss Isabelle Harwood, of Normal, Ill., sixth grade; Miss Eleanor Meyers of Lexington, Ill., fifth grade; Miss Ayleen Wilson, of Southland, Ky., fourth; Miss Julia Stricker, of Middleton, Wis., third; Miss Mary Gulger, second; and Mrs. Fern Lux, first.

The enrollment will not be determined until next week.

Heart Failure Takes Channel Lake Vacationer

E. A. Biegus, 41, Chicago Fireman, Succumbs Suddenly

After suffering but a short time, Edward A. Biegus, 41, West street, passed away at his summer home at Channel lake from a sudden heart attack late Sunday afternoon.

Biegus had served as a fireman of the Chicago department for twenty years, and as a lieutenant for five years, and was qualified to receive a pension.

He had been spending ten days on a vacation with his wife and children. Sunday afternoon he enjoyed a game of ball with his children, but at supper time complained of not feeling well, and went into his bedroom to rest. An hour later he was found dead by his wife.

Mrs. Biegus stated at the inquest that her husband had always been well in good health, and was unaware of any heart ailment.

He is survived by his wife and four children. The body was taken to the Chicago home, where funeral services were held Tuesday.

ANTIOCH MOOSE SPONSOR FIRST ANNUAL CARNIVAL

Gala 4-Day Entertainment Is Planned by the Committee

A big carnival, sponsored by the Moose lodge, will transform Antioch into an amusement center, gay with holiday crowds and brilliant lights, over the Labor Day holidays. The carnival begins tomorrow night, and will be in progress for four big nights on the grounds south of the Antioch Sales and Service station.

The Antioch Moose have been organized for less than a year, but their membership has grown so rapidly, and such interest and co-operation has been displayed, that the lodge feels assured of its ability to put over a mammoth carnival successfully for the pleasure of Antioch people and Labor Day crowds.

Committee Active.

The members of the entertainment committee have been making all efforts to secure the best in amusements, and promise a fine program of entertainment. They plan to make the carnival an annual affair.

Arrangements have been made with the Williams carnival company to provide music, special entertainment acts, and three big rides, which are necessary to the success of any fair or carnival. Booths, concessions and bright lights will mark the grounds as the scene of fun.

Anticipate Crowds.

O. E. Hachmeister, director of the Moose lodge and chairman of the committee, is expecting a throng of the Moose members and their families throughout the country, as well as the usual Labor Day crowds to flock to Antioch and participate in the festivities before the summer season closes.

Other members of the committee are William Van der Linde, W. H. Murphy, Lester Nelson, William Morley and Henry Rehake.

Home of the Sun's Heat

Joe Heavyash and Old Man Clinker are splitting their sides, because they're the ones who did the most to make this mess. But the rest of the fuel bin loaders are laughing at you, too. They know that, you buy fuel for heat, not for ashes. When you have heavy loads of ashes, that means that your money has bought that much less heat. Burn Koppers Chicago Coke and you'll be rid of these five wastrels. Koppers Coke leaves no ash worth sifting—and it's smoketless, smokeless, full-burning, easily regulated and light on the shovel. ZIP THE ZEBRA

One time when I was on a cruise to th' west coast of Africa, Perky Swipes, a shipmate of mine, and I went ashore to stir things up a bit. Well sir, we were wanderin' long a road when a native drivin' a zebra hitched to a cart hove along side of us and asked us if we wouldn't like to drive it. We were willin' to try anything once so we piled into th' cart and he hopped out.

Then th' fun began. That zebra was full of dynamite. Down th' road we tore, with Perky hangin' onto th' lines and yellin' like a wild Indian. Two natives, a fat one carryin' a pig and a skinny one, were walkin' in th' road ahead of us.

After we'd passed 'em th' natives were turnin' somersaults in th' air and th' pig was hangin' 'round Perky's neck. Right after that a wheel of th' cart hit a rock in th' road. Bam! That made th' zebra mad. Up went his heels. Wham! Up went th' cart right into a nearby river. Th' zebra gave us th' laugh, kicked up his heels and lit out. And ther we were, floatin' down th' river in a cart. Then, I'll be dingbusted if a few hours later we didn't drift out into th' ocean and almost alongside of our ship. We used our hands for paddles and were soon aboard. I've never liked zebras since.
